ABOUT #PINKNICS

Welcome to the Breast Cancer Foundation's newest addition to the pink ribbon events!

#Pinknics aims to educate New Zealand's younger females on an important topic. Understanding breast cancer at a young age is vital to our number one goal: stopping any unnecessary deaths due to breast cancer.

Getting involved is straight up simple. Pick up a pink blanket at our website and invite whoever you want on a picnic. When you've got to your location, take a picture of you and your mates and upload it to social media to raise awareness for the cause!

BREAST CANCER FOUNDATION NZ

Our vision: Zero deaths from breast cancer.
Our mission (how we'll achieve that vision):
Pushing for new frontiers in early detection, treatment and support.

We rely entirely on donations from the New Zealand public including personal donations, fundraising events and corporate partnerships for our work.

TE PAPA

We are New Zealand's national museum, located in Wellington. We're proud to stand with the BCFNZ along with #Pinknics.

Te Papa's philosophy emphasises the living face behind its cultural treasures, many of which retain deep ancestral links to the indigenous Maori people. The museum recognises the partnership that was created by signing the Treaty of Waitangi, te Tiriti o Waitangi, in 1840.

WELLINGTON BOTANIC GARDEN

The Botanic Garden is minutes away from downtown Wellington and is easily accessed.

There are many entrances to the Garden including from Glenmore Street, Salamanca Road, Upland Road and the Cable Car. The only public vehicle access is through Centennial Entrance on Glenmore Street.

The people of Te Atiawa from Pipitea Pa used the Botanic Garden for ngakinga (food cultivation), collecting native plants for construction, food, fibre and medicine, and birds for food.

Te Atiawa used large areas of the garden, and nearby hill Te Ahumairangi, for their own use and for trading until they were displaced from their pa in the mid-1800s.

Wellington Waterfront

You would have seen this on your way to Te Papa! Wellington's waterfront is full of sculptures to admire, places to eat and drink, and is close to many heritage trails to walk along.

Traditionally, the waterfront area is host to many annual Summer City events including Waitangi Day celebrations, the Pasifika festival, Homegrown, The Dragonboating Festival, Chinese New Year and Ahi Kaa as well as the Matariki Skyshow fireworks.

It's an easy walk from Wellington Railway Station or the central business district. Or if you're coming by car, there's plenty of parking close to the Waterfront.

Otari-Wilton's Bush

Otari-Wilton's bush is only 5 km from downtown Wellington, and accessible by car, bike or bus. Most of Otari's paths and walkways are accessible to all, including prams and wheel chair users, however there are some steep stepped sections which require more mobility and a moderate level of fitness. Cyclists are not permitted at Otari and dogs must be on the lead at all times, and cleaned up after.

There are several highlights at Otari-Wilton's bush like the plant collection, nature trail, treasure trail and canopy walkway taking you onto the flight path of beautiful native birds.
